From District Councillor
Cllr Colin Hedgley

Firstly, I hope you all had a happy Christmas.

Secondly I would like to wish you all a very peaceful and prosperous New Year.

That said, I am well aware of the suffering and hardship that many are still experiencing from the October 2023 floods, added to which we now have the more recent flooding of the past few weeks. Fallen trees, raised manhole covers and blocked drains just pile agony upon agony. I unapologetically reproduce some of the advice from last year.

If you I have problems with flooding , please ring East Suffolk Council on 0333 016 2000.

They will direct you to the most appropriate department that can help you. To report a Fallen Tree or a Flooding incident please telephone Suffolk County Council on 0345 606 6171. Meanwhile some helpful information is available in the publications, "A Homeowners Guide to Flood Resilience" and "Property Flood Resilience" both available via the internet.

Take extra care.

High tides, intense rainfall and strong winds are forecast to impact the East Suffolk coast again with large waves, debris and potential cliff collapse possible and those visiting the coastal areas are advised to take extra care. We have now suffered heavy rainfall for some time and run off and deep puddles are causing many roads to be dangerous. Slow down when driving through water on the highways. Continual house building and the tarmacking of drives with inadequate drainage, has forced water onto the roads with the consequential results.

Formal response to National Grid's Sea Link consultation

East Suffolk Council has raised a number of key concerns in response to consultation on proposals for a major energy infrastructure project.

The Council submitted its written response, agreed by East Suffolk Council's Cabinet, to National Grid Electricity Transmission (NGET) as part of statutory consultation into the Sea Link project, which is one of several reinforcement projects proposed as part of the Great Grid Upgrade. NGET has stated that the Sea Link project is required to add greater capacity to the electricity transmission network, allowing anticipated renewable energy, generated offshore, to connect to the network and be transported around the country.

The project includes installation of a new high voltage undersea electricity cable link between Suffolk and Kent – with construction of a converter station near Saxmundham, a substation near Friston, and underground cabling running from both sites out to sea at Aldeburgh. A number of public exhibitions and webinars were held in East Suffolk as part of the consultation between 24 October and 18 December 2023 – with postal responses accepted until Tuesday 2 January 2024.

NGET has said it will give all representations due regard in preparation of proposals for the scheme prior to formal submission to the Planning Inspectorate in the autumn of 2024. As a Nationally Significant Infrastructure Project (NSIP), the decision on whether to grant development consent for Sea Link will rest with the Secretary of State.

Learning centre funding boost for environmental education charity

A charity dedicated to transforming lives through the power of nature has received a major funding boost from East Suffolk Council towards completion of a unique new learning centre. East Suffolk Council has committed £110,000 of grant funding towards the Green Light Trust's vision to provide health and wellbeing programmes from the new building at Castan Wood, in Martlesham, for children, young people and adults with complex needs.

The environmental education charity launched an appeal last November to raise the money needed for completion of the carbon negative, cement-free learning centre – built using a hemp-based modular construction system.

The Green Light Trust already hosts a range of outdoor, woodland activities aimed at providing equitable access to nature at the 26-acre site. East Suffolk Council's contribution from earmarked reserves will assist completion of the centre, designed and manufactured externally by Suffolk based Natural Building Systems, and which received initial support from Suffolk County Council and the Suffolk Growth Investment Fund.

Lauren Shand, Green Light Trust CEO, said: "We are hugely thankful to East Suffolk Council for their support, which puts us in a position to be able to complete the build and start reaching many more people in need of our services.

“This building is being constructed with deep green principles in mind and we are delighted that this has been recognised and supported by the Council. We will be able to showcase through this build, new and sustainable ways of working which have the potential to positively influence the wider construction industry.”

Council Tax

The East Suffolk Council Cabinet has agreed that an initial proposed Band D Council Tax for East Suffolk Council of £186.57 for 2024/25, an increase of £5.40 or 2.98%, be approved.

“PRECEPT SURVEY: PCC proposes increase in precept to fund Constabulary in 2024/25

As your Police and Crime Commissioner, setting the policing budget is one of my most important responsibilities. I must ensure that the Chief Constable has the resources required to provide an efficient and effective service. Later this month I will need to make a decision about the policing element of the council tax precept. I am planning to ask the Police and Crime Panel to support my proposal to raise the policing element of the precept by £13 a year (for a Band D property) to enable us to maintain the standard of service that the public expect.

I would be very grateful if you could take part in the survey (link below) and let me know what you think. Could I also ask you to forward this on to others within your organisation/network and anyone else you think may be interested to comment.

. Have your say on play space proposals

East Suffolk residents are invited to give their views on plans to upgrade some play areas in the district, providing high-quality play spaces for children of all ages and abilities.

There are over 280 play areas in East Suffolk and East Suffolk Council owns and maintains over 60 of these. In 2022, the Council commissioned Knight, Kavanagh and Paige Ltd to carry out an independent evaluation on the council-owned play areas, looking at how the spaces were used, the type of equipment present and where improvements could be made.

This evaluation formed the basis of the Council’s Play Strategy 2023 – 2027, an in-depth study of current play provision. The strategy makes a series of recommendations and identifies play areas which could be upgraded and redeveloped to provide modern, high-quality play equipment for local families to enjoy. As part of this work, East Suffolk Council has already upgraded play spaces at Beccles Common, Matlock Dale in Carlton Colville and Langer Park in Felixstowe.

The strategy also identifies a small number of areas which are no longer suitable for modern play equipment and as there are other more suitable play areas nearby, the recommendation is that these more limited play spaces are removed. If this should happen, the areas will revert to open space and the local community will be consulted about any future use. The play areas which are recommended for removal include Townlands, Field View Gardens, Glebe View and George Brown Way in Beccles, as well as Nock Gardens in Kesgrave.

These proposals are part of the first phase of a four-year programme of improvements to East Suffolk's play areas and other consultations will take place on other areas in due course. Currently, views are being sought on play areas in Beccles, Felixstowe, Kesgrave, Trimley St Mary and Wrentham.

Residents are invited to comment on the recommendations at <https://www.eastsuffolk.gov.uk/play-spaces>

The consultation closes on 1 March.
